

Arlena Jackson

CEO + Career Consultant
Emerging Young Women Advocate

“I elevate a “mindset shift” with audiences big and small, inspiring attendees to take the next best step forward to fulfill their career and life ambitions.”

It’s my pleasure to partner with you!

Before becoming a professional speaker and a sought-after career consultant, I spent 20 years as a successful communications executive, leading and managing global teams for major organizations like IBM, NASA, Salesforce, Emerson and Thales e-Security in the Americas, Europe and Asia. My experience working with these companies, coupled with my keen emotional intelligence, has become the foundation for a time proven coaching system that inspires, motivates, and persuades people to make positive change.

Elevation Ally is a career consulting agency providing emerging young women with the fundamental resources needed to build an invigorating career and life so they can successfully transition from college to fulfill their purpose and establish their legacy.

People Are Talking:

As a university administrator and faculty member for more than 25 years, I have found a pure gem in the motivational speaking, career consulting and coaching services Elevation Ally's Arlena Jackson brings to the table. The students I've recommended to her have left armed with a marketable career toolkit, greater self awareness and a heightened go-getter attitude that transcends to receiving many internship and job offers. Emerging young women will benefit greatly from Elevation Ally.
